First Ever Eco-baby Shower Held at Award Winning Eco-home

Green Experts Set the Eco-baby Shower Stage

Huntington Beach, CA - April 30, 2008 – Green experts were on hand this weekend to throw Huntington Beach’s first ever eco-baby shower. Everything about this eco-event smelled, looked and breathed eco-friendly from the soy-ink that was used to print the invitations to the VeriFlora certified flowers beautifully displayed throughout the home to the games that had guests guessing the number of carbon footprints.

Co-hosts for this eco-baby shower included recognized green expert Kelly Vlahakis-Hanks, Director of Media Relations for Earth Friendly Products, www.ecos.com, an award winning line of eco-friendly and non-toxic products for the entire home; Elizabeth Espinosa, Emmy award winning news reporter for KTLA morning show; and Karen Wynn, high profile event planning specialist.

The eco-baby shower was held at Ms. Vlahakis-Hanks’ residence which was a recent finalist for a nationwide “Green Home” competition. The home, renovated in 2008, was designed by a LEED Accredited Professional from RevDesign and adheres to many of the LEED requirements including usage of Compact fluorescent lighting, a stainless steel front door which is US Green Building Council Certified, energy star appliances, the usage of low flush toilets, a high efficiency washing machine, as well as other environmentally sound features. The Green Event Studio was the caterer on hand offering food that was prepared using only locally grown products, The Spiraled Stem supplied VeriFlora certified flowers, and guests purchased their green shower gifts at www.babystyle.com.

“As a green realtor, I educate my clients’ on the importance of living green and ways to incorporate sustainability into their homes and lives,” stated Andrea Marisol Sulsona, Mother-to-be. “As a new mother and an environmentalist, it’s very important to me to bring my baby into this world surrounded by non-toxic, clean and replenishable products.”

Guests of Ms. Marisol Sulsona's eco-baby shower will receive I'm Eco-friendly totes filled with eco-friendly goodies including Earth Friendly Products' Randomness of Six Kits which contain 6 samples of award-winning green cleaning products; ECOS Baby Laundry Detergent, plant-based, non-toxic, hypoallergenic, everyday laundry soap containing only the highest quality ingredients; and "Complete Teething Guide" written by Karen Arnos, founder of Whole Planet, Whole Baby.
